To the MCE Board of Directors

It's a critical time for MCE as it sets a new course after the departure of the former CEO. Fortunately the Board has the unbiased MCE Grand Jury Report to provide guidance. In selecting a new CEO and establishing a new direction, the Board should intend to leave the past behind, and address the governance failures and lack of transparency of recent memory.

On Monday July 13 the Marin IJ published an OpEd by Ron Arlas, who served on the Grand Jury. He warns that "there are still a number of board members who refuse to see the necessity of major structural and attitudinal changes." If you have not read the Report, please do; you will find it here. If you think there is no reason for additional change at MCE, please give your position further consideration.

I am a customer of MCE. I firmly support the findings of the Grand Jury Report. Please understand that the changes recommended are important for the future success of MCE. My continued willingness to be an MCE customer is dependent on its adoption of a new direction toward accountability, transparency, and openness.

Thank you for your attention.

Chuck Jones
